Dear Reader,

Thank you for choosing OCA: Oracle Certified Associate Java SE 8 Programmer I Study Guide. This book is part of a family of premium-quality Sybex books, all of which are written by outstanding authors who combine practical experience with a gift for teaching.

Sybex was founded in 1976. More than 30 years later, we're still committed to producing consistently exceptional books. With each of our titles, we're working hard to set a new standard for the industry. From the paper we print on, to the authors we work with, our goal is to bring you the best books available.

I hope you see all that reflected in these pages. I'd be very interested to hear your comments and get your feedback on how we're doing. Feel free to let me know what you think about this or any other Sybex book by sending me an email at contactus@wiley.com. If you think you've found a technical error in this book, please visit <http://sybex.custhelp.com>. Customer feedback is critical to our efforts at Sybex.

Best regards,

Acknowledgments

Jeanne and Scott would like to thank numerous individuals for their contribution to this book. Thank you to Developmental Editor Alexa Murphy for teaching us about Wiley's publishing process and making the book better in so many ways. Thank you to Ernest Friedman-Hill for being our Technical Editor as we wrote our first book. Ernest pointed out many subtle errors in addition to the big ones. And thank you to Matt Dalen for being our Technical Proofer and finding the errors we managed to sneak by Ernest. This book also wouldn't be possible without many people at Wiley, including Jeff Kellum, Kenyon Brown, Pete Gaughan, Rebecca Anderson, and so many others.

Jeanne would personally like to thank Chris Kreussling for knowing almost a decade ago that she would someday write a book. Erik Kariyev motivated her to write her first table of contents ever. Countless CodeRanch.com moderators warned Jeanne about how much work writing a book is to get her to the point where she was ready. Michael Ernest gave her extra advice on the Wiley process. Bert Bates let Jeanne dip her toe in by contributing to his Java 7 book and she learned a ton in the process. Scott was a great co-author and was available to bounce ideas off of or remind her to follow her own advice. Finally, Jeanne would like to thank all of the new programmers at CodeRanch.com and FIRST robotics team 694 for the constant reminders of how new programmers think.

Scott could not have reached this point without the help of a small army of people, led by his perpetually understanding wife Patti, without whose love and support this book would never have been possible. Professor Johannes Gehrke of Cornell University always believed in him and knew he would excel in his career. Jeanne's patience and guidance as co-author was invaluable while Scott adjusted to the learning curve of writing a book. Matt Dalen has been a wonderful friend and sounding board over the last year. Joel McNary introduced him to CodeRanch.com and encouraged him to post regularly, a step that changed his life. Finally, Scott would like to thank his mother and retired teacher Barbara Selikoff for teaching him the value of education and his father Mark Selikoff, for instilling in him the benefits of working hard.

About the Authors

Jeanne Boyarsky has worked as a Java developer for over 12 years at a bank in New York City where she develops, mentors, and conducts training. Besides being a senior moderator at CodeRanch.com in her free time, she works on the forum codebase. Jeanne also mentors the programming division of a FIRST robotics team, where she works with students just getting started with Java.

Jeanne got her Bachelor of Arts in 2002 and her Master's in Computer Information Technology in 2005. She enjoyed getting her Master's degree in an online program while working full time. This was before online education was cool! Jeanne is also a Distinguished Toastmaster and a Scrum Master. You can find out more about Jeanne at www.coderanch.com/how-to/java/BioJeanneBoyarsky.

Scott Selikoff is a professional software consultant, author, and owner of Selikoff Solutions, LLC, which provides software development solutions to businesses in the tri-state New York City area. Skilled in a plethora of software languages and platforms, Scott specializes in database-driven systems, web-based applications, and service-oriented architectures.

A native of Toms River, NJ, Scott achieved his Bachelor of Arts from Cornell University in Mathematics and Computer Science in 2002, after 3 years of study. In 2003, he received his Master's of Engineering in Computer Science, also from Cornell University.

As someone with a deep love of education, Scott has always enjoyed teaching others new concepts. He's given lectures at Cornell University and Rutgers University, as well as conferences including The Server Side Java Symposium. Scott lives in New Jersey with his loving wife and two very playful dogs, a Siberian husky named Webby and standard poodle named Georgette. You can find out more about Scott at www.linkedin.com/in/selikoff.

Jeanne and Scott are both moderators on the CodeRanch.com forums and can be reached there for questions and comments. They also co-author a technical blog called Down Home Country Coding at www.selikoff.net.
